SUNDAY RIVER WILL HOST NORTH AMERICAN DOWNHILL EVENTS JAN. 16-19

Sunday River Ski Area in Newry, will host the North American Downhill Trophy Race Jan. 16-19.

Among the 140 anticipated competitors will be downhill racers from the first update of the National list, skiers recommended by the U. S. Ski Team and the best racers from regional FIS races across the country.

Race day is Thursday, Jan. 19, with women scheduled to start at 10 a. m. and men at 12 noon on the newly FIS-homologated Ecstasy-Cascades Trail.

The Sunday River downhill event is part of the North American Trophy Series, formerly known as the Can-Am Series, which is divided into eastern and western competitors' divisions. Winners of Sunday River's races will travel later this season to the North American finals at Winter Park, Colo.

This will be the only major downhill event held in New England this winter and one of only two scheduled for the East this season. Another downhill race will be held at Whiteface Mountain, N. Y., Jan. 23-26.

Ecstasy-Cascades is a two-run downhill course approved by international inspection teams. The trail, 7500 feet long with a 1500 foot vertical, is ideally suited to downhill racing because the top section is fast, tight and technical while the bottom is wide open, approximately 250 feet across where faster time can be achieved by the competitors. Also, the trail will receive special preparation from Sunday River's trail grooming and snowmaking crews prior to training and race events.

Training begins Monday, Jan. 16 at 8 a. m. when competitors register. From 9 to 11:30 a. m. will be course inspection; 12 to 1:30 p. m. women's training; 1:30 to 3 p. m., men's training.

Tuesday's and Wednesday's schedules call for course inspection from 9 to 10 a. m.; women's training from 10 to 11:30 a. m.; men's training from 12 to 2:30 p. m.

Appointed Technical Delegate for the race is Claude Dumontier from Canada. His assistants will be Peter Smith, Sugarloaf Race Chairman, and Robert Harkins, racing director from Sunday River. Racing Secretary is Sonia Fuller, also of Sunday River.

Spectators may view the race and training activities from the Sunday River Base Lodge and from several vantage points up and down the mountain.

The area's General Manager, Les Otten, assures that race activities "will not interfere with skiing for recreational skiers, and they will have a special bonus of watching some of the finest downhill racers in North America."

Sunday River now forms an integral part of the Eastern North American Ski Trophy Series.

TELSTAR MIDDLE SCHOOL SKIERS VICTORIOUS

The Telstar Middle School boys' and girls' ski teams both posted three victories over Spruce Mountain in giant slalom, slalom and cross country at Livermore Falls on Jan. 7. The three-event totals were: Telstar boys 297.77, Spruce Mountain 272.45, and Telstar girls 291.85, Spruce Mountain 238.77.

MOTOR INN IN OGUNQUIT OWNED BY FORMER LOCAL COUPLE DAMAGED MONDAY

The Norseman Motor Inn, Ogunquit, owned and managed by Carl and Barbara Jodrey Merrill, Bethel natives, received extensive damage in Monday's storm. The large motel, restaurant and shop complex, situated on the beach, was featured in a channel 13 TV newscast Tuesday evening. Erosion under the foundation, caused by high seas, during the storm, left the building precariously tilted and severely damaged. The Merrills were protected by insurance and have reportedly already consulted contractors who will begin repairs in the near future.

BROAD STREET ENTERED ON NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES

The Broad Street Historic District in Bethel has been entered on the National Register of Historic Places according to Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr., director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission. This designation is recognition of the importance of the area as part of the Nation's historic and cultural heritage.

The district, as nominated by the Commission, includes the entire length of Broad Street and the buildings around the Common.

Originally part of the route from Bethel Hill to Norway, Broad Street dates from the earliest settlement of the town. Beginning with the Moses Mason House of 1813 (already on the National Register), the buildings of this district represent all the major architectural styles of the 19th and early 20th centuries with a particularly large proportion of fine Greek Revival residence. Influenced by the Gehring Clinic (also a National Register property) which attracted wealthy and intellectual people from New York and Harvard University circles, Broad Street has emerged as a cosmopolitan island in an otherwise remote and largely rural region.

DAY CARE EXPANDS SERVICES TO WIDER PORTION OF POPULATION

The West Bethel Children's Center (along with all the other Day Care agencies in Maine) now offers their Day Care Services to a much wider portion of the population. The state has developed a sliding fee schedule which is used to determine how much, if anything, each family must pay weekly for Day Care Services. "Sliding" means that the scale includes weekly income as well as family size to determine fees.

For example, the column for a family of four would look like this:

$159-$168	$2/weekly
$169-$178	$4/weekly
$179-$188	$6/weekly
$189-$199	$8/weekly
$200-$211	$10/weekly
$274-$286	$32/weekly

There are many other columns on the chart which cover family sizes from two to six.

Now that this fee schedule is in use, many families who were previously not eligible for Day Care may well be able to enroll their children on a fee paying basis. For further information please call at the West Bethel Children's Center at 836-3700, or Deborah Laurent O.C.C.S. at 743-2101.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Monday's rains and flooding have caused many of our streets and roads to have bad patches of ice. We urge all residents to use care in traveling as little can be done to remove this ice until warmer weather. Bethel had only minor road damage, however, there was damage to personal property in some areas. We request that any residents who received damage to their property, to notify the Town Office of their loss and the estimated amount of damage.

Nomination papers for citizens interested in running for local elective office will be available at the Town Office beginning Monday, Jan. 16. At the annual town meeting, two Selectmen will be elected for three years; two Assessors for three year terms; and two School Directors for three year terms. The election will be Monday, March 20.

The Board of Selectmen met Tuesday evening, Jan. 10, for their regular meeting. This meeting had originally been scheduled for Monday evening, but was postponed due to the storm.

In actions Tuesday evening, the Board authorized the manager to sign the Unemployment Insurance Program Agreement with the Maine Municipal Association.

The Board adopted the following 10 projects as priority projects in 1978: (1) Improvements at West Bethel Railroad Crossings; (2) Sidewalk construction and improved snow removal; (3) Development of Public Works records system; (4) Adoption of Road Specifications; (5) Development of Plans for an improved Public Works facility; (6) Study the feasibility of the Town owning the Water System; (7) Development of an Employee Safety Program; (8) Complete review of Town Insurance Program; (9) Development of Capital Improvements Program; and (10) Development of Plans and specifications for a new bridge over Chapman Brook.

The Board reviewed the status of work on the water system improvements and the manager indicated that all work has stopped until Spring.

In other actions, the Board appointed Samuel Timberlake as Health Officer, approved using the Citizen for Town Report printing this year, reviewed correspondence from Governor Longley and Dan MacDonald, the Rumford town manager, and reviewed flood problems.

Per a request from the County Commissioners, the Board approved the use of Bethel's Landfill by Mason residents for 1978.

Richard Harding's resignation from the Water District Trustees was accepted with regret effective March 1, 1978.

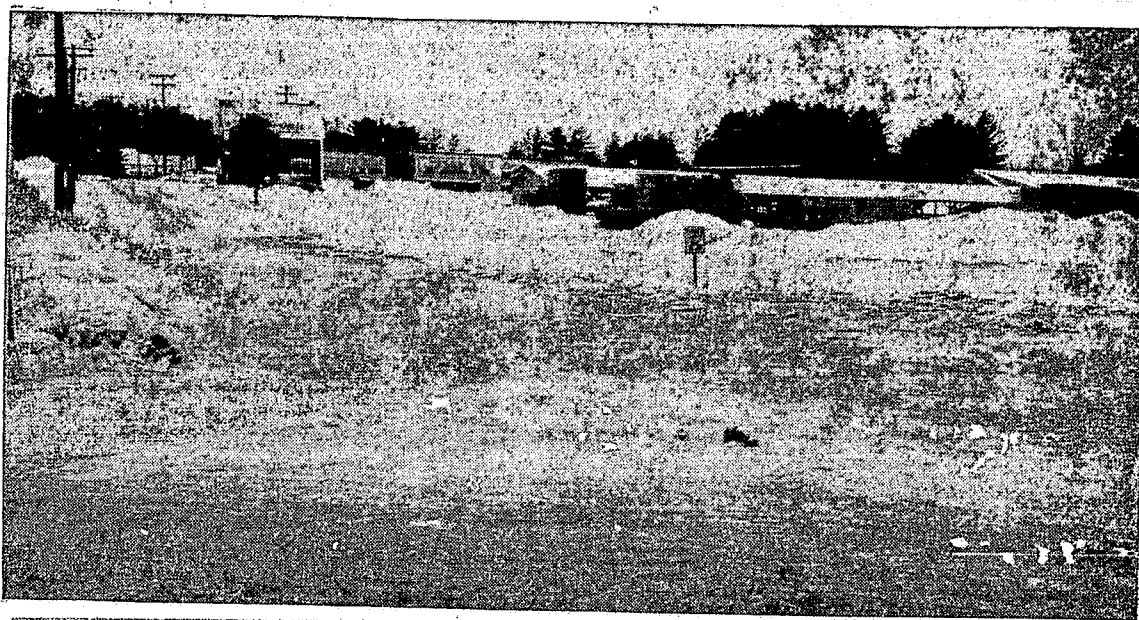

Water problems on the North-west Bethel Road and Ferry Road were discussed and the Board directed the manager to submit recommendations at the next meeting.

The remainder of the meeting was spent reviewing the proposed 1978 employee classification and pay plan.

The Board will meet Monday evening, Jan. 16, with a representative from DuBois & King regarding planning for sewer system upgrade work.

Norman H. Ness, Jr.

MONDAY'S HIGH WATER CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

A snowfall of about four inches on Sunday was followed by rain when the temperature rose. The rain continued until well into Monday afternoon. The heavy rainfall caused streams to overflow their banks, and accompanied by ice jams in the Androscoggin River, caused roads and fields along the river and its tributaries to be inundated.

At various times during Monday morning, Peabody Brook in Gilead, Pleasant River in West Bethel and Mill Brook in Bethel, put Route 2 under water. Route 26 between the Canadian National Railroad crossing and Alder River bridge was under water from about 6 o'clock Monday evening to the early hours of Tuesday.

At its height the water reached beyond the junction of Cross Street and Route 26, threatening for a time the Radio Shack Store.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES AVAILABLE IN HANOVER

Anyone in the Bethel area wishing to enjoy a box of Girl Scout cookies in March is urged to call an order to the Hanover Girl Scouts, as theirs is the nearest troop that will be selling this year. Phone 364-7599 days, 369-9995 evenings or drop a line to Girl Scout Cookies, Hanover, Maine 04237 before Jan. 21.

Reportedly when an ice jam broke up above the Mayville bridge, the water swept away buildings at the Twin Oaks Camping Area. For a time the residents of Doone's Trailer Park were surrounded by the high water as was the home and chicken house of the Stanley Moores on Northwest Bethel Road.

Because of the storm classes were cancelled in schools of S. A. D. #44, both Monday and Tuesday.

EDUCATION WORK COUNCIL DIRECTORS TO MEET JAN. 18

The Board of Directors of the Bethel Area Community Education Work Council will be meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at the American Legion Hall, Jackson-Silver Post #68, Locke Mills, at 7:30 p. m. All Council members and interested citizens are welcome to attend this and all meetings of the Council.

The board of directors of M. S. A. D. #44 will meet at 7:30 next Monday evening, Jan. 16, in the Andover Elementary School Gymnasium. The meeting scheduled on Monday, Jan. 9, was cancelled because of inclement weather.

Included on the agenda will be action on the resignation of a Telstar staff member from an extra curricular position, and the appointment of a replacement for the remainder of the school year. Action will also be requested on a bus driver resignation, and the naming of a Telstar High cross country ski coach for the current year.

Decisions are also scheduled on bids received for the disposal of two 66-passenger school buses. The board will be asked to appoint teachers for the spring term of Adult Education, as well as Telstar Middle School softball coach. Art Froburg will lead a discussion of the result of the District testing program. There will also be a discussion of two new laws: Child Abuse and Neglect, and new immunization requirements.

Monday and a January thaw. Sunday we had snow all day; but not too big an accumulation. This morning (Monday) we woke up to rain and no school. Halfway through the morning Saunders called up for extra shovellers as the water was backing up. Everett Saunders came home with a backhoe and got the water running away from their house. I looked out about two and the river was still covered with ice with big pools of water. About three I looked out and the ice was breaking up and great blocks of ice were jamming each other in their journey to wherever they end up. I called up Gerry Shimamura so she and her mother could see. When she came in she said that she had seen a small dog caught on an ice floe. Hope he gets off somewhere. Pat Saunders also came down and every once in a while we could hear a loud cracking where ice had once again hit into a tree breaking it like a matchstick. So many of the ice floes would have trees or parts thereof on their backs. Finally a wide path was cut out and it was still ice but not jamming. I have seen quite a few times the ice go out, but can't remember a path running through as fast ever before.

The flu is still plaguing people. It does not have any respect for old people or young: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stearns and Mrs. Debbie Seames, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura and boys and Mrs. Thelma Merrill.

Mrs. Chuckie Mason went into the hospital from Monday until Wednesday with side effect of flu. Chuckie and daughter Jennifer Lynn, stayed with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason.

Mrs. Edith Smith was out of work for a week because of an eye infection.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gibbs went to Bean's Restaurant, South Paris, New Year's Eve.

Pat Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore, celebrated his first birthday, Dec. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Baker of Locke Mills were guests.

Jody Shimamura, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura, celebrated his 14th birthday, Jan. 8. As it was a stormy day and his folks weren't feeling well, he'll have to celebrate later.

Sheri and Ricky Angevine, children of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, went to the Telstar dance Saturday. Kara Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Flynn, visited Sheri Saturday and went to the dance. After the dance, Sue Angevine took Kara home.

Kristy Angevine spent Friday night with Stacey Witter of Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hannon have the birds coming back to their feeder. The two girls have been watching the nuthatches, bluejays and chickadees.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hutchins spent Saturday night with friends in Quosoc. Mrs. Marjorie Conner took care of her two granddaughters.

Macki Chapman took her mother, Mrs. Ada Cummings, to Portland, where she caught a plane back to her home in New Jersey. Mrs. Cummings came to Maine to attend the wedding Wednesday of her niece, Miss Sandra Kendall, daughter of our mailman and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kendall, at her home.

Sorry that Gram Abbott's name was omitted from the Angevines family Christmas party. She certainly was there as Vic Coolidge took the four-generation picture (in last week's Citizen) with his wife Judy's new camera.

Mrs. Clare Smith, who is in Chapel Valley nursing home, has loved her ankle Christmas night at her daughter's, Mrs. Jane Mills, in Bryant Pond. She was born and lived as a child in the house that stood where Stan Brown's new home is. (Mr. Brown is her nephew.)

Mrs. Leslie Lapham spent one afternoon visiting friends in the Ledgewood nursing home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine called on his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Debiols and Dorothy in Shelburne, N. H., one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Corey Brown visited his folks Mr. and Mrs. Stan Brown from Dec. 29 to Jan. 1.

I found out that the ice rises ended up down by the bridge in

Monday morning, Jan. 9, temperature 42° and raining. Sunday was a bad day here with several inches of snow, later turning to rain. We have had snow flurries since Jan. 4, but not much accumulation until Sunday. We have quite a lot of snow in this area for so early. This must be a January thaw, may settle the snow some.

Eleven members of West Bethel Ladies Aid enjoyed a supper at Bethel Spa Restaurant on Wednesday of last week.

The Senior Citizens bus did not come on Tuesday to take people to the Senior Citizens' dinner at the Methodist Church, Bethel, as only four were going from Gilead and West Bethel. Some were staying home that usually go, on account of weather conditions and some for other reasons.

Mr. and Mrs. Yves Wild of Shelburne, N. H., were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker.

Not much visiting in this area since the holidays. The weather most of the time hasn't been too good. People were staying home if they didn't need to travel to work, or to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morse of Norway were visitors at Mrs. Clara Rolfe's on Friday afternoon.

Greenwood City

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres.

This afternoon I went to where the cattails rustled in the slight breeze, where the red-winged black birds had left their nests, and where the muskrat had built her dome-shaped house of rushes.

I was at first undecided which to do; walk the road, try my snowshoes across the pond or just walk the pond. I chose the last.

When I climbed the snow bank, then descended to the pond, I walked carefully, wondering if the crust underneath the light snow would hold me. In one place it sounded hollow but all went well and I reached the pond without a mishap.

The air was bright and clear and the sun on the mountain tops looked warm and friendly.

My first journey was on some of the waterways leading back toward the swamp but none of them led far enough to satisfy me. There were many rounded little hills on either side and in the swamp. I loved its rumpled carpet. Here and there I noticed a tree that had not stood the strain of winds and had snapped leaving its top buried in the snow. Occasionally there was an oval depression scooped out by winds eddying around a rock or stump. Parts of the land seemed locked in winter forever.

After exploring here I went up pond to the garden of cattails. Right at the edge was the muskrat's house, showing above the ice and carefully constructed of sticks, bits of moss, mud, reeds and cattails. Their living quarters lie above the waterline but their entrances are subaquatic. The winter cold does not bother them. I wondered how many were within the lodge or if the trapper had taken them. Did they know that I was observing their house? In summer we watch these animals, during warm twilights, bringing in food, trailing long ripples and V's that become silver and mirror-like as evening closes. I have seen them with masses of grass stems so that they looked like green quilled porcupines moving through the water.

Leaving here I went through a growth of alders and birches by following a snowmobile trail. This took me to the field next to Sanborn River.

Everywhere there were tracks of the "dweller of the brier patch." No lover of Uncle Remus' "Brer Rabbit" can hate this soft-eyed handsome animal.

As I came into the field, I noticed a lacy trail and thought it a mouse-track. Just then I spied a lump of gray, a dead mole, I thought and took a step nearer.

The "dead" raised its nose from the snow and scooted into a tunnel beneath, as soon as it sensed my nearness. Moles have enormous appetites so what was he eating here? Feeding and feeding make up their life.

This trail took me well over toward the Patch Mountain Road. Viewing the pond and valley from here I realized how much I have developed an intimate relationship with it. So today, once more, after many, many previous visits over the years, I noted what I could see and what the changes have been. So meandering this portion of the trail today, I recalled events of interest even back to the ski and sliding parties, when I first came here to live.

By now the sun shown only on the mountains to the far north-

Bethel. For awhile the end of our road was flooded so no one could get in. Joe Shimamura got as far as Bailey's at the foot of Blake Hill and couldn't get home. I understand that by Alder Brook was where the trouble was. Frank and Jimmy had to leave the vehicle up at the top of the hill as the road had to be barricaded so the water would not flood. Still no school Tuesday. The temperatures dropped from rain to snow with winds in less than an hour. At the time of the drop we had thunder and lightning. We, in Maine, will for years to come remember the 9th of January, 1978.

Bill Shimamura, son of Joe and Gerry Shimamura, sprained his arm in cheerleading practice Thursday and had to go to Stephens Memorial Hospital as no doctor was available in Bethel.

Vince Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman, is taking ski lessons at Mt. Abram. Vince had a friend, Scott Snyder, spend one night with him.

The really happy man is the one who can enjoy the scenery when he has to take a detour.

east. The clouds were moving in. Two long streaks making a V were across the heavens; not muskrats this time but jets.

On my return I took the same path up from the pond. I again stepped cautiously on that hollow place, when whom! I was up to my hips with one foot in the water. Cold, but not dangerous, just a small brook merrily singing its way to the pond, and unimpaired of the unpleasantness it was causing me at the moment.

The time spent was long enough to triple my distance of one and three fourths miles, but my motto is "Go Slow and See More."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Carl Curtis who had the New Year's baby, Timothy James, at the Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway on Jan. 2. G. Carl is my nephew. This is the second

New Year's baby in family. The first about three years ago. The little fellow called so I could see him on his way home from the hospital. He went home with his Dad and Ma to where they live on Hayes Hill.

Ralph and Reggie Leeper, Bob and little Daisy Leeper, Kings-town, R. I.; Milton and Sally Hornstein, Providence, R. I., spent the week end at Leeper's cottage. All of them were callers at the home of Frank Curtis. Other callers this week were Irene Stevens, Augusta; Mildred Bowman, Hebron.

Club Eight met with Katie Tamminen at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Tamminen showed his slides on their trip to Michigan which we enjoyed. Anna Jarvenpaa won the hostess' prize.

Lucy Bragg, Sumner, visited me on Thursday afternoon. Carl and Lettie Brooks, West Paris, called on us Friday afternoon.

Duane Hayes and family, West Paris and Ardell Hayes, Auburn, were at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday. Glenn Hayes, Gray, has been a patient at Maine Medical Hospital but returned on Saturday.

O, the glorious sunshine! How we appreciate it after the miserable weather of the last few days. Week end activities were slowed considerably—power was off here for nearly four hours and traveling treacherous, water was over the highway in several places.

Mrs. William Bancroft was in Portland for some shopping with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert, Saturday.

Pat Grenier and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons are among those who have been suffering with bad colds.

Mrs. Alice Kimball returned home Tuesday afternoon after spending several days over the week end in Augusta and Gardiner.

Heavy thundershowers passed over this area Monday evening.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors for the cards, food, flowers and donations to the East Bethel Church; to the people in Rumford Corner for the lovely luncheon, and to all of you who helped us in so many ways during our recent great loss. We wish to thank the nurses of the Rumford Community Hospital, Dr. Wadhera and Dr. Phillips for all the care they gave David; to Greenleaf's; and to Rev. Caton for the beautiful sermon. God Bless and keep you all.

CHANGES ON MAIN STREET. IN LOCKE MILLS

by Steve Seames

Main Street, Locke Mills, has seen great changes since the New Year. It could be called Urban Renewal?

P. H. Chadbourne Co. of Bethel was contracted to raze two homesteads recently purchased by Ekco Wood Products, that had occupied three-quarters of an acre on the west side of lower Main Street for more than a century.

The first homestead that was razed was the Dana B. Grant homestead better known as "Gramp" Crockett's. Built prior to 1870 by Mr. James B. Currier, it was one of the largest homes in the north end of town. Currier was also the builder of the Ira Jordan store that housed on the second floor a Hall that carried the name Currier Hall. (Eva Bean's notes.)

Most of the people I talked with remembered vividly the gatherings that occurred at the Grant Home following each Memorial Day parade for many years. "There was coffee and hard tack and the men folks always enjoyed jokes and conversation" remembered one person. "I can remember there was always a wash-tub full of lemonade for the kids," recalled another.

Dana B. Grant, was born in Greenwood in the house now occupied by Mrs. Ruth Ring. Grant was a well noted soldier of the Civil War. Following his death in 1911, Mrs. Grant moved to Bethel where their only son was attending Gould Academy.

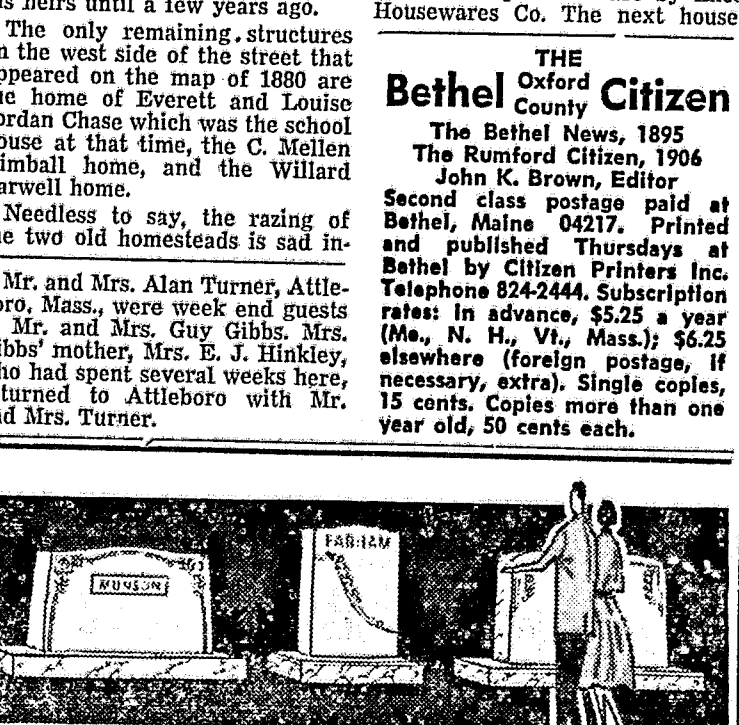

Many renovations were made to the house and was structurally changed by glass porches when the house was purchased by "Gramp" and Mrs. Crockett. The Crocketts lived in the homestead and made improvements to the home, during their many years there. Since the time of their deaths the home has been lived in by many but for only short periods of time.

The second structure razed was the Young-Stowell Homestead, recorded as being built ca. 1875 in the Greenwood Town records. Mrs. Ruth Young occupied one side of the two family dwelling, and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stowell occupied the other side. Following Mrs. Young's death in 1915, another of her daughters and sons-in-law occupied her side of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Woodsum. The building was purchased about 1936 by Wesley Kimball. It was rented to various persons by Mr. Kimball and his heirs until a few years ago.

The only remaining structures on the west side of the street that appeared on the map of 1880 are the home of Everett and Louise Jordan Chase which was the school house at that time, the C. Mellen Kimball home, and the Willard Farwell home.

Needless to say, the razing of the two old homesteads is sad in

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Turner, Attleboro, Mass., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gibbs. Mrs. Gibbs' mother, Mrs. E. J. Hinkley, who had spent several weeks here, returned to Attleboro with Mr. and Mrs. Turner.

MAIN STREET, LOCKE MILLS

This photo, date unknown, shows the west side of Main Street, Locke Mills, all clearly visible buildings now gone. On the right of the photo are the Young-Stowell homestead, circa 1875, and the Dana B. Grant home built prior to 1870, both recently razed to provide additional space for use by Ekco Housewares Co. The next house, the old E. L. Tebbets mill, which burned in 1950, and the store building have also been removed. In the distance, at the top of the hill, the present residences of Willard Farwell and C. Mellen Kimball are barely discernible.

Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.—Louis Begin and Friends checked their homes on Back Street over the week end.

We got rain beginning Sunday with strong winds and over 50 degree temperatures. Much of the snow cover collapsed. Monday, the wind shifted and was as strong from the opposite direction and the temperature dropped rapidly to snow and this was welcome as it filled some of the space left around outside walls during the warm spell.

A notice of a meeting to be held Jan. 10 arrived that same evening although postmarked in Hebron Jan. 5. The rain and sleet and whatever does not deter the mail from its rounds, probably couldn't find where it holes up.

The 4H girls met at the home of their leader Tuesday night and discussed a program they have been asked to put on at a Grange meeting in March. Then they each made a funny creature and took home material for another.

It appears the legislative session may be a lot shorter than had been originally anticipated. A contributing fact is that one of the most controversial issues to be discussed is now expected to go quickly through both branches and to the people in a November referendum. The issue of whether to allow, 18 year olds to drink on premises is now expected to have a majority report of sending it to the people.

Over the past few sessions lawmakers are becoming increasingly concerned about what their constituents are feeling about an issue, so instead of making any unpopular decision on many major issues they take the easy way and just say "let the people decide". Such examples, of course, are issues like the uniform property tax, the returnable bottle bill, many of the new bridges proposed for certain locations, and now the liquor bill.

Some here say legislators are afraid they may lose votes back home if they take sides and then end up on the losing side.

As far as the 18 year old drinking measure is concerned most lawmakers we talked to said they did not feel the issue should be even considered this session. They said they voted to allow it to go to committee only because leadership had allowed the bill in and the public hearing was to be held within 24 hours.

Rep. Karen Brown's bill of reducing the time in which a person has to report an injury incurred at a ski area has had its hearing and a divided report is expected out of the Judiciary Committee. Representatives from Sunday River were at that hearing, and Les Otten, general manager, said additional increases in their insurance, which would occur without this bill hurt his ski area. He was joined in his comments by other ski area operators from throughout New England.

Sponsor of the bill, Rep. Brown, said the availability of insurance would be limited as is malpractice insurance for doctors. She said "allowing anyone to report an accident within six years has sent rates skyrocketing." She felt that insurance companies just do not have the ability to investigate an incident that old. Under the new proposal Miss Brown explained they would have to give notice of the accident within 90 days and then they would have up to two years to collect damages.

Although some lawmakers representing districts with ski areas were not at the hearing, those who were in contact with all favored the bill.

UMO RESEARCH GRANTS REACH ALL-TIME HIGH IN '77

Research grants reached an all-time high, $7,007,805, during 1977 at the University of Maine at Orono and allowed the university to serve Maine and the nation through a variety of activities in sciences and humanities.

Woodstoves, a new diet for lobsters and a study of radioactive wastes were among the research problems directly related to the Maine economy. An economic pest was pinned down as a true Maine native when Old Town graduate student Leonora Bauer found that the black flies making pests of themselves in later summer around the Penobscot River watershed were misnamed.

While most people don't care what generic name the black fly they swat uses, it has been changed to "Simulium penobscoti" after the river system from which it was collected. This research is all part of an expanded black fly research program started at UMO in 1977.

Not yet named, but new, are the salt water animals discovered in the Gulf of Maine by Dr. Leslie Watling, a taxonomist at the Ira C. Darling Center, UMO's marine laboratory at Walpole. Watling is working under a grant from Taxon, Inc., to gather data on animals in the gulf for an Environmental Impact Statement required by law before oil drilling leases are granted by the Department of the Interior.

Prof. Richard C. Hill, mechanical engineering, has the only current federal grant in the country to study the output of a wood stove and the heating needs of a single family home, a project that may solve cost, energy waste, safety and pollution problems not only for Maine but elsewhere.

These and other projects involve faculty members and student assistants, and one group of undergraduates applied for and received its own grant for summer study of the behavior of radioactive wastes released from a nuclear reactor. The group was one of 64 in the nation awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation, and the $19,450 award was also one of the seven largest given in 1977 to a student study.

Another UMO student was awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities Youth Grant. History major Michael Chaney of Wisconsin will collect and prepare an exhibition of the work of Joseph E. Leighton, a Wisconsin area photographer in the early 1900s.

Grants were given not only for scientific studies. The UMO Cooperative Extension Service's Senior Community Service Project received $608,500 to provide 168 positions for older people who want to activate old skills or develop new ones and to reintroduce them into the labor force. The 1977-78 grant was appreciably larger than the previous $309,500 which provided positions for 95 older adults and served 20,000 Maine people.

Ellis Monique Waller was added to the CER staff in the program as a specialist on aging, one of the first such positions in the country.

The university's Canadian-American Center received a $9,603 grant from the William H. Donner Foundation to assist in the creation of the first French Canadian program in the United States. The Quebec government is also providing assistance to the Center.

Workshops throughout Maine were launched in 1977 by two UMO education faculty members, Bernard Yvon and John W. Butzow, to train people in the use of metrics. Workshop participants are expected, under the grant from the U. S. Office of Education, to return to their home areas and teach others.

Dr. Frederick H. Hutchinson, vice president for research and public service, said 1977's $7,007,805 in grant money represented 188 funded projects out of 255 submitted. This was a considerable increase over the past two years, he said, from 158 funded in 1976 for $6,632,302, and 145 in 1975 for $4,014,722.

UMO met the standards of quality required by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges during 1977 and received its second 10-year accreditation. Professional accreditation was also achieved during the year by the College of Engineering and Science (the Engineering Council for Professional Development), the College of Education (National Council of Accreditation of Teacher Education), School of Forest Resources (Society of American Foresters) and the department of psychology (American Psychological Association). Since reaccreditation dates occur at different intervals, this does not mean that other departments in the university are not accredited by their professions.

A few other highlights during the year include: Use of campus facilities by more than 125,000 visitors. Announcement by the University Bookstore of a 10% discount on textbooks, a goal reached within a year and a half at an institution of a discount policy.

Publication of a nutrition consumer education guide for public schools by two School of Human Development faculty members, Katherine Musgrave and Shirley Oliver.

Establishment of the first professional undergraduate program in surveying engineering in the country in the UMO department of civil engineering.

Honors to the UMO department of civil engineering.

Honors to the UMO speech pathology program which was ranked 13th out of 174 universities on the basis of its graduates' performances in the National Examination in Speech Pathology.

Acceptance of UMO Historian William Baker's book, "Beyond Port and Prejudice," for inclusion in the Christ Church Papers of the Oxford University Press which will co-publish the book with the UMO Press.

Publication by the UMO Press of theatre professor James Best's book, "Monarch of the Mimic World," and the second reprint of the late Stanley Athwood's "Length and Breadth of Maine." Athwood was a Lewiston newspaperman.

Publication by the Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History of a history of the Argyle Room, edited by Edward Ives from oral histories collected by his students.

Election of Kendall Holmes of Portland and Deborah Strumello of Seymour, Conn., both journalism majors, as the first co-editors in the history of the Maine Campus, the university's bi-weekly newspaper.

Black Bear athletics found 1977 to be a year of success as the rifle team captured the New England Title, the women's ski team finished fourth in the nation, the men's and women's swim teams established themselves as New England powers.

While Maine's first-ever hockey team drew plenty of attention, women's track and women's cross country made successful debuts with winning campaigns. The women's basketball and gymnastics squads won state championships as well.

1977 also marked the opening and dedication of the Harold Alfred Sports Arena, the site of sell-out crowds at varsity ice hockey games, community skating and local ice hockey league activities.

PROPERTY CRIMES DOWN - VIOLENT CRIMES UP DURING FIRST NINE MONTHS OF 1977

There were 30,820 property crimes and 4,131 violent crimes reported in Maine during the first nine months of 1977, said the Maine State Police's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) unit.

The property crimes—burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft—decreased by 140 reported crimes compared to 1976. The violent crimes—murder, rape, robbery, and assault—increased by 224 reported crimes.

"The clearance rate or the disposition/solving/etc. for reported crimes was 28.9% an increase of 3.6% over January through September of last year," said Colonel Allan H. Weeks, Chief of the Maine State Police.

During the nine-month period $10,330,016 worth of property was stolen compared to $9,891,294 last year. Local, county, and State Police officers recovered 42.8% compared to 37.5% last year.

Burglary—also known as Breaking & Entering—decreased by 532 for a total of 9,801. There were 7,422 involving forcible entry; 1,587 unlawful, no force; and, 792, attempted forcible entry.

Larceny—the unlawful taking of property from another with the intent to deprive ownership—increased by 137 for a total of 19,039. Larcenies included pocket picking, 56; purse snatching, 101; shoplifting, 1,645; from motor vehicle, (out of), 3,713; motor vehicle parts and accessories, 3,173; bicycles, 2,527; from buildings, 3,402; coin operated machines, 131; and, all other, 4,391.

And, motor vehicle theft increased by 255 for a total of 1,980. The reported thefts consisted of 1,400 autos; 255 trucks and buses; and, 325 other vehicles.

Regarding violent crime, murder increased by nine for a total of 21. The State Police UCR report stated 113 reported rapes—an increase of 34 over the same nine-month period last year. Eighty-four cases were reported as rape by force, and 20 reported as attempts to rape.

Robbery increased by four for a total of 294 cases. Fifty involved the use of knives; firearms, 102; other weapons, 13; strong arm ("muggings"), etc., 129.

And assault increased by 177 for a total of 3,703. There were 2,325 simple assaults with the remainder being aggravated assaults. The reported aggravated assault cases included the use of firearms, 129; knives, 165; other weapons, 205; and, hands/fists/feet, etc., 879.

STATE OF MAINE
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Karen L. Brown

January 8, 1978

The second regular session of the 108th legislature, being the first Biennial Session in the history of the State, opened last Wednesday with Gov. James B. Longley's State of the State message. The remainder of the session on Wednesday was dealing with committee assignment of legislation.

It was an extremely busy week for many legislators because the Legislative Council scheduled Public Hearings before legislators returned for the session. The aim of the council was to prevent opening sessions, but in some cases hearings were held before adequate information had been compiled.

On Thursday I spoke at a Public Hearing as the Sponsor of LD 1927; An Act Concerning Limitations of Actions and Notice of Claim before Suit under the Elevator and Tramway Statutes Pertaining to Ski Areas. The enactment of this bill would require that a skier notify a ski area operator within 90 days of the injury the circumstances of the accident that may result in a claim. The Legislature also would require any ski related suits to be filed within two years of the accident.

Maine ski areas are presently experiencing a crisis, similar to the medical malpractice crisis, in the availability and price of their liability insurance. Because of the nature of the ski business, it is impossible for a ski area to maintain perfect ski conditions. Trail conditions change from one run to the next and will be influenced by the number of skiers on a particular trail, the type of skiers using the trail, the time of day and weather changes.

On Friday, I presented LD 1916: An Act to Authorize Magalloway Plantation to Raise Funds for Secondary School Board for the 1977-78 School Year in the Excess of Statutory Maximums, to the Education Committee. There are six High School Students from Magalloway Plantation who have been attending Fryeburg Academy as Boarding Students. The amount paid by Magalloway per pupil to Fryeburg Academy is in excess of the legal maximum tuition charge in the Maine School Funding Law, Title 20.

The intent of this bill is to allow the students to stay at Fryeburg so that they will not have to be transferred in the middle of the academic year, and to permit the Plantation adequate time to plan for secondary school education for their students.

BEANE - DUNHAM

Miss Sharon Martha Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Dunham, West Paris, became the bride of Royce Wesley Beane in a candlelight ceremony on Dec. 16, at 7 p. m. at the Universalist Church, West Paris. Mr. Beane is the son of Mrs. Glenice Hunter, Milo, and Wesley Beane, Hampden.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Donald Hinkley, of Auburn. Elaine Emery was the organist and Brian and Faye Hill sang "Evergreen".

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore the gown her mother was married in. The gown was floor length with chantilly lace inserts, mandarin collar and long pointed lace sleeves. She wore a chapel length veil trimmed with chantilly lace, and carried a bridal bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, pink carnations and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Mary Rivera, friend of the bride. She wore a jade green gown with matching cape and carried a bouquet similar to the bride's. The bridesmaids were Diana Dunham, sister of the bride; Ginger Dunham, sister-in-law of the bride, and Trudy Hadley, friend of the bride. The bridesmaids' gowns were identical to the matron's of honor only in straw hat and they carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and baby's breath. They all wore picture hats. The flower girl was Hope Culbert of Oxford. She was dressed in a long mint green dress and carried a basket of pink and white carnations. Jose Rivera attended the groom as best man and performing ushering duties were Cpl. Paul Dunham, brother of the bride, Dick Record, Oxford, and Pete Robertson, Lowell, Mass., friends of the couple. Joly Rivera was ring bearer.

The reception was held in the West Paris gym with Robin Hunter, sister of the groom, in charge of the guest book. The gift table was in charge of Nancy Robertson and Sheila McDonald. Sally Dougherty and Terri MacDonald poured punch and Ann Robertson and Judy Lawrence served refreshments. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Dorene Merrill and cut and served by Ann Proctor and Bertha Dunn.

The groom is employed at Burlington Homes, Oxford, and the couple are living in West Paris. Guests attended from Lowell, Mass.; Bethel, Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, Rumford, Wilton, Dryden, Waterville, South Paris, Norway, Milo, Hampden, Westbrook, Portland, Falmouth, Auburn, Oxford, Denmark, and West Paris.

OXFORD CO. COUNSELING CTR. TO OFFER WORKSHOPS, COURSES, AND SEMINARS

The Oxford County Counseling Center, a branch of Tri-County Mental Services, will be offering several workshops, courses, and seminars to the public during winter and spring of this year. Some of the programs, such as a five week seminar, "Helping Students Cope," have been designed especially for educators. Two others, "Training for Effective Parenting" and "Parenting Adolescents," are of particular interest to parents. Courses in Assertiveness Training, which has recently gained widespread popularity, will also be offered through the center, as will a four week course on "Life Planning"—personal goal setting and accomplishment. For further information or to enroll, call 743-6725 or 743-6465.

Happy New Year to all of you from all of the members of the Mt. Abram Fish and Game Association.

ROLE OF NEWSPAPERS IN LOCAL HISTORY IS FEATURED AT SOCIETY MEETING

The role of newspapers in local history was the topic of the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, Randall H. Bennett, chairman of the Education and Research Committee, presented a brief history of newspapers in the nation and Maine. In the colonial period, newspapers were weeklies, printed on rag paper with little local news provided except for obituaries. Usually the news that was presented was quite old by the time it reached its readers. By the 1830's however, daily newspapers came into being with larger circulations. As competition grew later in the century the freshness of the news became increasingly significant. Rivalries were legion and trust not always respected. According to Bennett, most newspapers for the greater part of their history served political interests without apology, a situation far different from the professed objectivity of today.

The first newspaper in Maine was the "Falmouth Gazette" published in Portland in 1785. The first one in Oxford County was "Russell's Echo" founded by Elijah Russell in Fryeburg in 1798. It lasted but nine months. The first newspaper in Bethel was the "Bethel Courier" which first appeared in 1858 and failed in 1861. The town would not have another newspaper until 1895. During this period readers in Bethel depended upon the "Oxford Democrat" founded in 1833 which began as an organ of the Democratic party with largely national news but gradually accepted more and more local items. "As a result," said Bennett, "it contains a wealth of local detail which is invaluable to local historians." In 1895 the "Bethel News" was founded and was succeeded by the "Bethel Oxford County Citizen" in 1908 which continues to the present.

Because of the importance of newspapers to history, the Society has undertaken an extensive microfilming project designed to preserve this important source and to make it readily available to the public. To date the microfilm collection of the Society includes, the "Oxford Observer," 1824-28; "Oxford Democrat" 1833-1893; "Bethel Courier" 1858-1861; "Bethel News" 1895-1908; "Rumford Citizen" 1908-1908; "Bethel Citizen" 1908-1976.

Bennett also discussed the project of compiling a selective index of the "Oxford Democrat" which will make these newspapers more important to the local historian, genealogist or interested public since any information can be readily found if present. To date Bennett estimated that the index already possessed some 26,000 items.

Following Bennett's presentation, a film "The Colonial Printer" was shown which depicted life in a print shop just prior to the American revolution. Printing techniques such as wetting the paper before use and organization of the shop as well as the impact of the press upon the public were clearly illustrated.

Refreshments followed the meeting.

MISS MONA L. ROBERTS

Miss Mona Lynn Roberts died unexpectedly Tuesday, Jan. 10, 1978, at her residence on South Main Street, Andover. She had resided in Andover all her life.

She was born April 6, 1961, in 1961, in Rumford, the daughter of Colby and Glenice Silver Roberts. She had attended the Andover Congregational Church. She was a junior and an honor student at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel. She was a member of the band, French Club and marching band. In prior years she had been a member of the chorus.

Surviving besides her parents, of Andover, are two brothers, Alston K. and Ashley K., both of Andover; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Doris Pacquin, Freeport, N. Y.

Funeral services are being held this Thursday afternoon at the Andover Congregational Church, Rev. David Wuori officiating. Interment will be at Woodlawn Cemetery, Andover.

GEORGE H. BARLOW

George H. Barlow, husband of Vivian M. Barlow, died unexpectedly early Wednesday morning, Jan. 11, 1978, at his home in East Andover.

Born at Hanover, Aug. 18, 1907, he was the son of Andrew A. and Clara Teller Barlow. He was educated in Hanover and Rumford schools. He married Vivian Eagle Aug. 17, 1929, at Rumford Center. The couple moved from Hanover in 1936 to their present home in Andover. Mr. Barlow was employed by R. J. Swain Co., in East Andover, until an industrial accident forced his retirement in 1968. He was a skilled craftsman and indulged in home handicrafts in his leisure time. He was also an avid fisherman and outdoorsman. He was a member of the Andover Senior Citizens and was a former member of Andover Grange.

Besides his widow of Andover, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Ann Harrington, Kamloops, B. C.; a brother, Homer Barlow and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Lapham, both of Hanover.

Funeral services will be held from the Hawthorne Funeral Home, Mexico, date and time to be announced. Interment will be in the Hanover Cemetery.

de BARA - KENDALL

Married Jan. 4, 1978 were Sandra Jean Kendall and Santiago de Bara. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Thomas Caton at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Kendall of Paradise Road, Bethel. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alberto de Bara of New Rochelle, N. Y.

The bride was attended by Miss Patti Savage of Locke Mills. The best man was Alberto de Bara of New Rochelle, N. Y., brother of the groom.

The bride is a graduate of Telstar Regional High School, Bethel, and is presently a Junior at Thomas College, Waterville. Mr. de Bara will graduate from Thomas College in May with a BS degree in management.

The bridal couple will make their home at 7 Union Street, Waterville.

Locke Mills

Mrs. John Mills, Corres.

Due to the storm on Tuesday the Bookmobile will be here this Friday.

The Ladies Circle will be held Wednesday, Jan. 18, at the home of Mrs. Rowena Dunham.

The Mt. Abram Fish and Game Association will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Jan. 19, beginning with a pot luck supper at 6:30 p. m. at the Town Hall.

Ralph Mills returned to S.M.V. T. Monday afternoon after spending the week end, and an extra day due to the storm, at his home here. Mr. and Mrs. John Smith visited Sunday afternoon at the Mills home and they too were forced to stay over until Monday. They spent Sunday night with his brother, Rev. Donald Smith, and family.

Mrs. Nellie Swan, Paris Hill, took her mother, Mrs. Lillian Lapham, out to dinner at Jordan's in honor of Mrs. Lapham's birthday. Mrs. Lapham also was a guest at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cross.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Ford and Mrs. Lettie Ford Saturday were Mrs. Myrtle Bonney and daughter, Beryl, West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Al Morrow, daughter, Andrea, and her husband, and her parents-in-law, from Holbrook, Mass.

The Main Street scene was changed somewhat this week as the Crockett house was demolished Friday and the Kimball house on Saturday. For those who were interested—we did get our cat back. He came out of the rubble of the houses and hid under the Town Hall from where he had to be forcibly removed. He sure picked the wrong day to go back and visit his old haunts.

Bruce Swan and Robbie Noll went to Nahick, Mass., for a Young Life Staff Conference over a week end.

There will be a Young Life Skating Party Friday night after the basketball game at Telstar. Contact Robin Noll for further details.

Mrs. Bertha Flanders went to the Senior Citizens dinner at Mt. Abram, Wednesday. About 80 were present.

John Mills returned to work Wednesday after being ill for four days. Mrs. Mills is presently ill with this same virus.
